

Satellite radio agreed that they would remain a "national" service. They now want to change that. They want to offer services such as local weather and traffic, but not offer the community services that local radio stations provide on a daily basis. Local radio is licensed to serve their local communities, and that's just what they do.

Please remember also, the NAB represents small, local, broadcasters as well as the large groups. Satellite radio is anything but a small business.